

A semiconductor device is provided with a conductive layer provided on a backside of a semiconductor substrate. The conductive layer helps maintain a uniform bias voltage over the substrate. The conductive layer can also be used to apply a bias voltage to the substrate and reduce the number of bias voltage distribution regions required.